

BRITISH CROSS RIVER STRUMA

Capture Jenmita From Bulgars While Serbs Advance.

BATTLE RAGES ON EAST FRONT

Russians Enter German Trenches in Galicia, but Are Expelled in Fierce Counter Attack—Entire Italian Company Buried in Explosion.

London, Sept. 25.—British troops fighting along the Struma crossed the river at three points and took the town of Jenmita from the Bulgarians, while the Serbs made additional progress northeast of Kaniakalan and the French to the northwest of Florina.

Sofia reports the capture by the Bulgarians of a mountain crest south of the village of Popla.

On the Roumanian front fighting has died down somewhat in the Dobrudja region, while on the Transylvania front an attack by the Roumanians on the Vulkan pass, which was repulsed, is the only engagement reported.

In Galicia a Russian attack on the upper reaches of the Dniester resulted in a general engagement.

Russians Are Expelled.

North of Zborow the attackers succeeded in entering the trenches of the Teutonic allies, but later, according to both Berlin and Vienna, were driven out, suffering sanguinary losses and leaving behind them seven hundred prisoners and several machine guns.

Petrograd, however, says that in this region the Russians took prisoners 1,500 Austrians and Germans.

In the Carpathians several positions captured recently by the Russians have been retaken by the Teutonic allies.

The usual artillery bombardment and isolated infantry engagements have taken place in the Austro-Italian front. Violent attacks in the Carso region failed, according to Rome, but the Italian war office admits the blowing up of a part of Monte Cimone by an Austrian mine and the relinquishment of the position by the Italians.

Vienna says that 427 prisoners fell into the hands of the Austrians as a result of this operation, and that an entire Italian company was buried in the explosion.

On the battle front in France, aside from the repulse of local attacks by both the entente allies and the Germans, violent artillery duels have predominated.

GERMAN SOCIALISTS URGE WAR TO LAST

London, Sept. 25.—A conference of the Socialists of the German empire has adopted by a vote of 251 to 5 a resolution declaring the country must be defended until its enemies are prepared to conclude a peace guaranteeing the political and territorial integrity and the economic developments of Germany, according to a telegram from Berlin received at Amsterdam and forwarded by the Reuter Telegram company.

The resolution is said to have strongly condemned the machinations and demands of those who wish to make the war one of conquest.

This attitude, it is contended, strengthens the resistance of Germany's opponents and tends to prolong the conflict.

Seventeen Executed as Spies.

Amsterdam, Sept. 25.—Press dispatches from Maastricht, Holland, say that seventeen persons already have been executed as a result of recent trials at Hasselt, Belgium, on the charge of espionage. In all, twenty-two persons were condemned to death, among them four priests, three women and two young girls.

Removal From the "U of M."

St. Paul, Sept. 25.—Dana was removed as professor to philosophy in the University of Minnesota about a year ago after the suicide of his wife, an English girl, a Socialist like himself.

His statement that she ended her life because she could not be a perfect mother and that he considered her end
"beautiful" was followed by an explanation from the university that he was discharged because of "lack of regard for common usages."

Adult Dies of Infantile Paralysis.

Sheboygan, Wis., Sept. 25.—Matt Schwartz, thirty-six years old, is dead of infantile paralysis, the first death from the disease in this city and the second case to develop here.

MRS. GEORGE MIDDLETON

La Follette's Daughter Differs
With Husband on Presidency.

HUSBANDS AND WIVES SPLIT ON PRESIDENCY

Washington, Sept. 25.—Meredith Nicholson, the author, who was offered a post in the diplomatic service by President Wilson, and his wife have agreed to differ on a most important question. It is that of the candidacy of Mr. Wilson for re-election. Mr.
Nicholson is against him and for Mr.
Hughes.

A number of other equally well known families are similarly divided.
Among the couples which have agreed to differ as to presidential candidates are Representative William Kent of California and Mrs. Kent, Mr. and Mrs. Fremont Older of California,
George Middleton and his wife, Pola
La Follette, daughter of Senator La Follette of Wisconsin.

The wives maintain that for them and for all women no issue is of more fundamental importance than that of national woman suffrage, which has been endorsed by Mr. Hughes and opposed by Mr. Wilson. For this reason they are out to defeat Mr. Wilson.

BOMB THROWER IS FOUND GUILTY

San Francisco, Sept. 25.—Warren
K. Billings, tried here for the murder of Mrs. Myrtle van Loo, one of the sixteen persons killed by the explosion of a bomb during the San Francisco preparedness parade, July 22, was found guilty in the first degree.
The jury recommended life imprisonment.

Billings will be sentenced Tuesday,
it was announced.

James Brennan, assistant district attorney, after the verdict, stated that he hoped to be able to use Billings' testimony in the prosecution of Thomas J. Mooney, his wife, Rena, Israel Weinberg and Edward Dolan, on indictments similar to that upon which Billings was convicted.

Brennan said that he considered Billings only a tool in the hands of bigger men. Brennan will go to the governor and ask for a pardon or commutation of sentence if Billings will consent to tell what he knows of the bomb conspiracy. Billings is twenty-two years old.

APPONYI MAY BECOME AM- BASSADOR.

London, Sept. 25.—Count Al-didate for the post of Austro-Hungarian ambassador to the United States. He is well known in America.

veteran Nationalist, died here, less than a week after receiving news that his son, Lieutenant Thomas M. Kettle, professor of economics in the National university, had been killed in

"FARM BOYS OF OUR COUNTRY" THEME OF SEN. WM. A. CAMPBELL

Minneapolis Senator Spoke to a Large, Appreciative Audience at Bethlehem Lutheran Church

Farm Boys are the Real Producers of the Land and Have No Apology to Make to Consumers

Senator Wm. A. Campbell, of Minneapolis, spoke to a large and appreciative audience at the Bethlehem Lutheran church on South Seventh street on Sunday evening, using as his theme, "Farm Boys of Our Country," a lecture he has often been asked to deliver at Chautauquas.

Senator Campbell is a member of the United Commercial Travelers of America, sells stoves, and in the course of his business covers the state and is thus conversant with business and economic conditions.
As a legislator he has acquired fame by championing labor measures, by advocating the mother's pension law and other beneficial legislation.

His address Sunday evening took the place of the regular church service. He was introduced by Rev.
M. L. Hostager, pastor of the church.
In the course of his address he said:

Pastor, ladies and gentlemen: I can assure you that it is a pleasure for me to speak to you this evening regarding the "Farm Boys of Our Country," but before doing so, I am going to shift from my subject, for just a few moments, that I may call your attention to two things that are of vital importance to you as citizens of this state.

First, I wish to ask you to vote for Amendment No. 1 to the constitution of this state, which is of great importance to Northern Minnesota and is in fact known as your amendment, and is submitted to the people of this state for the purpose of developing this action.

Second, I wish to call your attention to the fact that an organized effort is being made at this time, over the entire state of Minnesota, to carry the legislature and repeal the entire primary laws of this state. I do not know what you think about it, but in my judgment it is a direct insult to the intelligence of the people of this state to tell them that they are not intelligent enough to select the candidates for public office without the interference of big interests. We have been a long time getting the democracy that we now have, and I would say to you frankly, do not hesitate to ask any candidate for the House, at this time, as to whether he intends to go into the legislature and vote to disfranchise you by voting to take away your right to select the public officials of this state. It is your sovereign right under the constitution to govern yourself, and do not permit any public official to deny you that right.

I feel that I am qualified to speak of the farm boys, as I have an intimate knowledge of them. I was born upon the farm. My father died when I was a boy, and I stacked all the grain upon our farm when I was 14 years old and bound away a cradle when I was 15, and was feeding a J. I. Chase threshing machine when I was 17. I wish to say to you frankly that the farm boys, in my opinion, need not apologize because of the fact that they come from the farm, for they are the producers of the land, and surely no producer has any reason to apologize to a consumer.

There are several things in connection with the farm boys that I wish this time to discuss with you. In the first place, the farm boys should be interested in their future enough to select good company and we should remind them of the statement made by Thomas Jefferson, who said: 'Keep good company, or none, for good company is the alms of virtue.'

In the second place, we should be interested in the boys enough to convince them that we respect honor in all men, and every father and mother should be a companion to the boy, and it is my candid opinion that the parents who show as much interest in the boy between the age of 12 and 16 years, as they did when he was 12 and 16 months old, will have fewer heart-aches when the lad has reached 21, than they would of had should they neglect this important duty, of being a companion to the boy.

It is my opinion that thousands of the farm boys leave the farm because father and mother have neglected them in their mad race after dollars.
There is a responsibility resting upon you and I, in connection with these boys, for have we not seen the city lad point the finger of scorn at the farm boy whose shoes were possibly not polished as bright as his

ZEPPELINS RAID ENGLAND —TWO ARE DESTROYED

(By United Press)
London, Sept. 25.—An official statement of the results of Saturday night's Zeppelin raid says seven men, eight women and three children were killed in London, and 45 men, 37 women and 13 children were killed in Providence and 17 wounded. Two Zeppelins of twelve that made the raid were destroyed and the crew of one Zeppelin were killed and the crew of the other captured. Several houses and stores were destroyed but no military damage was done.

lan, and the French progressed near Popla. Fighting in the Dobrudja region has died down. Near

Dozen Big Airships Drop Bombs on London.

TWO ZEPPELINS DESTROYED

Fires Are Started in Large Area and Houses and Stores in Capital Are Demolished—Crew of One Craft Is Captured as Machine Falls.

London, Sept. 25.—Of the twelve big Zeppelins which invaded the British Isles to deal death and destruction from the skies, two like stark and black masses of steel and aluminum in the little village of Mangold, Essex county.

They fell victims of the anti-air craft defenses at London and outlying districts.

One came down a flaming torch, as did the Zeppelin L-21, destroyed three weeks ago, while the second, disabled by gale force, effected a landing, which saved the lives of the crew, who are prisoners in England. The crew of the first raider died in the consuming flames of their own ship.

Destruction Is Quick.

This latest raider to light its own funeral way on English soil collapsed and was consumed much more quickly than the L-21. It is possible, though, that some of the men were still living when the great vessel struck the ground. The captain's body was found some distance from the wreck.

The death and burning of the first Zeppelin was witnessed by tens of thousands of London residents, but the wounding and descent of the second raider was a matter of doubt until official statements were given out.
Many who saw the shrapnel bursting like skyrocket from the invader which caught fire, think there must have been several direct hits. Many aeroplanes were aloft and attacked the Zeppelins from all sides.

The raiders took a heavy toll of lives before their destruction.
Twenty-eight persons were killed and ninety-nine were wounded in the metropolitan district of London. Two persons, it is known, were killed and seventeen were wounded in the provinces.

Victims of the Raid.

The casualties in the metropolitan area, according to an official compilation, are as follows:

Killed—Men, 17; women, 8; children, 3; total 28.

Injured—Men, 45; women, 37; children, 17; total, 99.

The property damage, while widely distributed, is confined, for the most part, to small suburban dwellings and shops, although one railway station was damaged, some empty cars being destroyed and part of the tracks torn up.

The roar of dropping bombs was heard in many districts where the raiders were invisible.

It is not believed that more than two or three invading Zeppelins which crossed the east coast succeeded in reaching the environs of London, and that two of these paid the death penalty gives the greatest satisfaction to the military authorities. Apart from the loss in material, the casualties of the last two raids, it is believed, will have a depressing effect on the morale of the Zeppelin crews in the future.

New Impetus Given to Search in Itaca County.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 25.—Search for the unidentified man who attacked and shot Miss Olga Dahl gained new impetus with reports that a man closely answering the description of the assailant had been seen twice near the north shore of Lake Winnibigoshish.
Sheriff Charles Gunderson of Itasca county moved his posse toward the south, and the country along the north end of Lake Winnibigoshish is being scoured.

Gradual improvement was shown in the condition of Miss Dahl, and unless an infection sets in she is expected to make rapid recovery.

Several suspects arrested at various towns of this vicinity have been released after establishing alibis.

Sheriff Gunderson is convinced that the assailant has not escaped from the swamps.

In the second place, we should be interested in the boys enough to convince them that we respect honor in all men, and every father and mother should be a companion to the boy, and it is my candid opinion that the parents who show as much interest in the boy between the age of 12 and 16 years, as they did when he was 12 and 16 months old, will have fewer heart-aches when the lad has reached 21, than they would of had should they neglect this important duty, of being a companion to the boy.

It is my opinion that thousands of the farm boys leave the farm because father and mother have neglected them in their mad race after dollars.

There is a responsibility resting upon you and I, in connection with these boys, for have we not seen the city lad point the finger of scorn at the farm boy whose shoes were possibly not polished as bright as his own? (Continued on page 5)

Dozen Big Airships Drop Bombs on London.

Fires Are Started in Large Area and Houses and Stores in Capital Are Demolished—Crew of One Craft Is Captured as Machine Falls.

London, Sept. 25.—Of the twelve big Zeppelins which invaded the British Isles to deal death and destruction from the skies, two like stark and black masses of steel and aluminum in the little village of Mangold, Essex county.

They fell victims of the anti-aircraft defenses at London and outlying districts.

One came down a flaming torch, as did the Zeppelin L-21, destroyed three weeks ago, while the second, disabled by gaseous fire, effected a landing, which saved the lives of the crew, who are prisoners in England. The crew of the first raider died in the consuming flames of their own ship.

Destruction Is Quick.

This latest raider to light its own funeral way on English soil collapsed and was consumed much more quickly than the L-21. It is possible, though, that some of the men were still living when the great vessel struck the ground. The captain's body was found some distance from the wreck.

The death and burning of the first Zeppelin was witnessed by tens of thousands of London residents, but the wounding and descent of the second raider was a matter of doubt until official statements were given out.

Many who saw the shrapnel bursting like skyrockets about the invader which caught fire, think there must have been several direct hits. Many aeroplanes were aloft and attacked the Zeppelins from all sides.

The raiders took a heavy toll of lives before their destruction.

Twenty-eight persons were killed and ninety-nine were wounded in this metropolitan district of London. Two persons, it is known, were killed and seventeen were wounded in the provinces.

Victims of the Raid.

The casualties in the metropolitan area, according to an official compilation, are as follows:

Killed—Men, 17; women, 8; children, 3; total 28.

Injured—Men, 45; women, 37; children, 17; total 99.

The property damage, while widely distributed, is confined, for the most part, to small suburban dwellings and shops, although one railway station was damaged, some empty cars being destroyed and part of the tracks torn up.

The roar of dropping bombs was heard in many districts where the raiders were invisible.

It is not believed that more than two or three invading Zeppelins which crossed the east coast succeeded in reaching the environs of London, and that two of these paid the death penalty gives the greatest satisfaction to the military authorities. Apart from the loss in material, the casualties of the last two raids, it is believed, will have a depressing effect on the morale of the Zeppelin crews in the future.

New Impetus Given to Search in Itasca County.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 25.—Search for the unidentified man who attacked and shot Miss Olga Dahl, gained new impetus with reports that a man closely answering the description of the assailant had been seen twice near the north shore of Lake Winnibigoshish. Sheriff Charles Gunderson of Itasca county moved his posse toward the south, and the country along the north end of Lake Winnibigoshish is being scoured.

Gradual improvement was shown in the condition of Miss Dahl, and unless an infection sets in she is expected to make rapid recovery.

Several suspects arrested at various towns of this vicinity have been released after establishing alibis.

Sheriff Gunderson is convinced that the assailant has not escaped from the swamps.

Income Tax Records

BY PAUL O. HUSTING,

(United States Senator from Wis.)

(Written for the United Press)

In my judgment, no valid argument has ever yet been advanced why income tax records should not be published or at least open to the public for inspection.

If certain individuals evade or escape, in whole or in part, their proper tax, just to that extent, the amount so evaded has to be made good by those who make full and honest returns of their property. Every taxpayer has a right to know what every other taxpayer pays.

Men will dodge taxes. I do not think this due so much to inherent dishonesty as to inefficient administration of the tax laws.

I believe most men are willing to pay their taxes if assured that their fellow citizens pay theirs.

Because of imperfect, loose and frequently dishonest assessment methods it is not unusual for men to engage in a practice acquiesced in if not sanctioned by the authorities, to dodge their taxes.

Often it is considered clever for men to get the best of their neighbors in concealing property. Men boast about it and a sort of rivalry has sprung up between them on the point. They do not stop to think that they are cheating their fellow citizens who do pay their just taxes. They do not stop to think that they are "welchers" or "spongers" on society. Some of these men who ordinarily would spurn the idea of sponging on their fellows or cheating their partners.

Some one has estimated that this government loses annually $300,000,000 by income tax dodging. This may be a very high estimate. I do not know. I do know that millions of dollars of properly payable taxes under the income tax law are lost to the United States each year because of false returns. A corps of inspectors uncovering these tax evasions have added millions to the tax receipts.

The ban of secrecy should be removed and all these records exposed to the light of day. Men will not evade their taxes if they fear detection.

The loudest protest against publicity naturally comes from those liable to pay the heaviest tax. Not daring to attack the income tax principle they loudly inveigh against intrusion into their private affairs.

When such income constitutes the basis upon which their just tax is computed then their tax return becomes a public document.

If it should be shown that the injury to private business by reason of publicity incidental to the assessment and collection of the income tax is out of all proportion to the benefits derived from that source of taxation, the tax should be abolished, but so long as it is in force all steps necessary to the proper administration of that income tax should be taken, even though in exceptional cases it may cause trouble or inconvenience. Publicity is the most efficient hand-maiden of such administration.

Commercial club at Minneapolis, with a membership of 600, a former newspaper man, was in the city Saturday and looked over the local situation. Fred T. Lincoln, secretary of the Thief River Falls Commercial club, another applicant for the secretaryship of the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce is expected in Brainerd today. Thief River Falls has a population of about 5,550.

Why Not Publish Income Tax Records

BY PAUL O. HUSTING,
(United States Senator from Wis.)
(Written for the United Press)
In my judgment, no valid argument has ever yet been advanced why income tax records should not be published or at least open to the public for inspection.

If certain individuals evade or escape, in whole or in part, their proper tax, just to that extent, the amount so evaded has to be made good by those who make full and honest returns of their property. Every taxpayer has a right to know what every other taxpayer pays.

Men will dodge taxes. I do not think this due so much to inherent dishonesty as to inefficient administration of the tax laws.

I believe most men are willing to pay their taxes if assured that their fellow citizens pay theirs.

Because of imperfect, loose and frequently dishonest assessment methods it is not unusual for men to engage in a practice acquiesced in if not sanctioned by the authorities, to dodge their taxes.

Often it is considered clever for men to get the best of their neighbors in concealing property. Men boast about it and a sort of rivalry has sprung up between them on the point. They do not stop to think that they are cheating their fellow citizens who do pay their just taxes.

They do not stop to think that they are "welchers" or "spongers" on society. Some of these men who ordinarily would spurn the idea of sponging on their fellows or cheating their partners.

Some one has estimated that this government loses annually $300,000,- 000 by income tax dodging. This may be a very high estimate. I do not know. I do know that millions of dollars of properly payable taxes under the income tax law are lost to the United States each year because of false returns. A corps of inspectors uncovering these tax evasions have added millions to the tax receipts.

The ban of secrecy should be removed and all these records exposed to the light of day. Men will not evade their taxes if they fear detection. The loudest protest against publicity naturally comes from those liable to pay the heaviest tax. Not daring to attack the income tax principle they loudly inveigh against intrusion into their private affairs.

When such income constitutes the basis upon which their just tax is computed then their tax return becomes a public document.

If it should be shown that the injury to private business by reason of publicity incidental to the assessment and collection of the income tax is out of all proportion to the benefits derived from that source of taxation, the tax should be abolished, but so long as it is in force all steps necessary to the proper administration of that income tax should be taken, even though in exceptional cases it may cause trouble or inconvenience. Publicity is the most efficient hand-maid of such administration.

The children she leaves are Mrs. L. H. Stallman, Charles Erickson and Edward Erickson, of Brainerd; Mrs. Nels Anderson of Wadena. She was widely known and her kindness and charitable disposition gained her many friends.

The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the residence and at 3 o'clock from the Seventh Street Bethlehem Lutheran church. The body will be at McNamara's undertaking rooms until Wednesday, the day of the funeral.

Pinochle Club

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Elder entertained the Pinochle club of Brainerd at their lake home at Gull lake Saturday afternoon and Sunday. At the dinner Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. George D. The occasion was one of the most pleasant in the history of the club, and the excellent weather made it a delightful outing. Mr. and Mrs. Elder have one of the most elaborate and convenient summer homes in this section of the country and the surroundings are in keeping with the home. Gull lake is noted for its grandeur but this beauty spot is among the most notable in that respect, being located on what is known as the "Old Mission." The residence occupies a prominent position on the bench sufficiently back from the lake to give an excellent view of the broad expanse of water and the woods which are in their height of glory at this season of the year.

INSPIRING SERVICE

Last evening a very profitable and inspiring service was conducted at the Salvation Army. Brother P. T. Brown, assisted by Brothers Cartwright, Dillon and Woods, of the Laymen's League, had charge of the meeting and carried on the service very impressively. From the first strains of "O Boundless Salvation" to the tune of "My Jesus I Love Thee" sung by the congregation, through the two selections rendered by the male quartet, the personal testimonies given by the visiting brothers, the lesson read by Bro. Brown on "The Call of Matthew," to the invitation solo by Bro. Brown, the meeting was one of profound interest and conviction.

The subject taken by Bro. Brown was very ably handled, he dealing with the four points in "The Call of Matthew," i. e. Resolve, Renunciation, Obedience and Service. Everyone joins in saying "come again."

UNIONISTS BEGIN PICKETING OF LINES

New York, Sept. 25.—While several unions, representing various trades, met and discussed plans for the threatened "suspension of work" Wednesday in aid of the carmen who quit their places Sept. 6, active picketing of the transit lines which have been declared "unfair" by organized labor was begun by thousands of men and women.

Sentinels were posted throughout the city to watch for union men riding on the cars. All cases of the kind will be reported to the unions to which the men belong and fines will be assessed, it was said.

Eight hundred coopers affiliated with the longshoremen's union, it was announced, voted in favor of a general strike.

Except for sporadic attacks against elevated trains by men lurking on housetops, there was little outward change in the situation. Service on the subway and elevated lines continued normal, while surface car travel showed improvement.

Oscar S. Straus, chairman of the public service commission, issued a statement demanding that both the carmen and their employers submit their differences to arbitration.

The Golden Heart

By BARBARA PHIPPS

There has never been an invasion of an enemy's country that the invader has not made willing captives of a number of the daughters of the region invaded. During the war between the states many a Union soldier wooed and won a southern girl whose antagonism against the Union armies was very bitter. There seems to be something in the social relations that defies the horrors of war.

Lieutenant Joaquín Molina, a young Spanish officer just out of his teens, was during the last years of the last century sent with his command to Cuba. Those were the days when General Weyler was attempting to crush the Cuban revolution by execution and imprisonment, and both he and Spanish soldiers were hated by the downtrodden Cubans.

Lieutenant Molina was encamped with his regiment near a sugar plantation owned by one Leandro Reyes. The officers were received at the plantation with civility, if not cordiality, for Reyes did not care to antagonize them, though his sympathies were all for free Cuba. His daughter, Inez, a dark-eyed beauty of seventeen, saw Molina, and notwithstanding she hated him as an enemy of her country she fell at once under the spell of love, a spell that was mutual, for Molina reciprocated.

True, the lady did not at once acknowledge that she had given her heart to the young Spaniard. Indeed, she was struggling against her enthrallment.

It was not long before the two passed from a mere acquaintance to an acknowledgment of what they felt for each other. Inez, though she admitted her passion for the young officer, refused to become his betrothed on the ground that he was engaged in the work of subjecting her countrymen to the yoke of the king of Spain. He pleaded for her to at least withhold her decision till the war had ended, but she replied that the end of the war, whatever it might be, would not alter her decision.

When Molina's regiment was ordered to Santiago there was a sad parting between the two, during which Inez gave way and told her lover that if Cuba achieved her independence he might come back and ask her again. Encouraged by this, he took one kiss, which she permitted, and tore himself away. He left her a parting gift—a little gold heart he wore on his watch chain.

Molina fought at Santiago, and when the end came he was shipped with his regiment to Spain. He asked for leave in order to visit Senorita Reyes, but, owing to the terms of the surrender, was unable to obtain one. He was obliged to defer seeing her again for a final reply to his proposition till he had gone to Spain. Then, if necessary, he would resign his commission in order to seek her.

When Lieutenant Molina reached Madrid he found it impossible to obtain a leave to return to America. He would have resigned his commission in order to go and claim Inez, but his mother dissuaded him.

"What?" she said. "Will you cross the Atlantic to claim a girl you are not sure of? If you resign from the army what career have you? And you will not find it pleasant to live on the income furnished by your wife's father."

Molina was thus persuaded to put off the matter so near his heart from day to day, till at last, having thought less and less of it, he drifted away from it altogether. He was thrown in with girls at home who desired the attentions of a young soldier who had been through the last struggle to preserve Cuba for Spain. In a few years he married one of them, and his Cuban romance was looked upon thereafter as a pleasant dream.

Fifteen years passed. Molina had in the meantime resigned from the army and had been elected a member of the cortes. Ten years after his marriage his wife died and left him a widower without children. Fourteen years after the close of the Spanish American war he was appointed to a prominent place in the Spanish legation at Washington. While there he was one night attending a reception of the president and was introduced to a lady of middle age who, though a native of tropical America, where women bloom and fade early, was still beautiful. He did not catch her name, but saw at once that there was Spanish blood in her veins.

"We have met before, señor," she said.

"Indeed?" looking at her scrutinizingly. "When? Where?"

"In Cuba."

"I have not been to Cuba for fifteen years. While there I met a number of ladies."

"To one of them you gave a token."

"A token?"

"Yes."

Inserting her fingers under the neck of her dress, she caught a chain and drew forth attached to it a little gold heart.

For a few moments Reyes looked at it without remembrance concerning it. Then it rushed upon him that he was the donor.

"Inez?" he exclaimed. "Are you married?"

"No, I have been waiting to give a dual answer to one who was to call for it."

When Molina returned to Spain he took with him the daughter of the Cuban minister to the United States.

ABOUT FALL CANNING ARTS.

The Value of Accuracy Instead of Guesswork—Preserving Really Means Sterilization and Hermetic Sealing. Suggestions About Vegetables.

First.—Fresh fruits and vegetables are first choice, if available. If not, canned goods, home-made or commercial, are a veritable godsend. Whole, sound, convenient and economical.

Second.—Canning means sterilization killing bacteria and spore by heat, and hermetically sealing so that no invaders can enter the can. Nobody needs a canning powder. They are always dangerous and useless.

Third.—There is little if any more danger of illness from canned goods than from fresh. Sterilization is a highly perfected process, and nearly all spoilage makes itself known to sight and taste and smell. The most care must be exercised with milk and meat and fish.

Fourth.—Throw away a can that is "swelled" or leaky. This may mean insufficient sterilization or gas formation, and no chances should be taken, though sometimes it means only overfilling.

Fifth.—Use a thermometer. Don't guess. Women's intuition and the rule of thumb would never produce efficiency in a cannery, and they won't do it in the home kitchen.

Sixth.—Sulphites and saccharine in canned corn, copper sulphate for green peas, boracic and salicylic acids for asparagus and other vegetables are all evils of a dead and buried past. The only canned goods chemically preserved to be found nowadays are those put up on the farms and in small towns, where the peddler of the "preserving powders" misleads the unsuspecting home canner into using his anonymous wares.

Seventh.—A can of corn twenty-seven years old recently was critically examined by a food commissioner and pronounced to be "good eating." A product that was inferior before going into the can may at one year of age be a poorer product than its elder brother. However, age is not to be desired in canned foods, and they should not be carried over several seasons. The amount of tin dissolved increases on standing, condensed milk "lumps" and excesses of heat or cold injure quality.

SLAYS BABY; KILLS HERSELF

Madison, Wis., Woman Leaves Check for Funeral Services.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 25.—Leaving a letter addressed to her husband and a check of $50 for funeral expenses, Mrs. Arthur A. Gelatt, twenty-two years old, shot and killed her baby, Mary, two and a half years old, and then fired a bullet into her mouth at her home here.

Gelatt was formerly engaged in newspaper work. Her letter said she feared she could trust him no longer and that she would die.

"No!—I Said Calumet!"

"I want what I ask for—I know what it would mean to go home without it. Mother won't take chances—she's sure of Calumet—sure of light, wholesome, tasty bakings—of positive, uniform results—of purity and economy. You try CALUMET Baking Powder—lay aside your favorite brand once and you'll never go back to it. Calumet is the world's best Baking Powder—it's moderate in price."

MAINTENANCE OF ROADS

Counties Reminded that in Order to Obtain State Aid They Must be in Best Condition

Suggestions as to maintenance of roads constructed at large expense to counties and the state have been issued to county commissioners and district engineers by the engineers of the State Highway commission, at the same time reminding them that counties are required to keep continuously in the best possible condition every mile of state road, whether improved or not, in order to obtain state aid.

It is pointed out that to get best results the county board should organize a maintenance system under a superintendent who is to be held responsible.

The year should be divided into three seasons, according to the commission, the break-up season from April 1 to July 1; the clean-up season from July 1 to November 1, and the winter season from November 1 to April 1.

In the break-up season repair crews should be started early, roads reshaped and planned after each rain, and ditches and culverts cleaned.

In the clean-up season maintenance should be started after every construction job, roads planned after rains, surface repaired and restored and weeds and brush cut. In the winter roads should be kept open for travel, waterways kept open, roads planned before freezing and on warm days, and work organized for the coming maintenance year.

PROFESSOR CARRYING HOD

Edmund T. Dana is Found in a Canadian Town.

Boston, Sept. 25.—Edmund Trowbridge Dana, grandson of Henry W. Longfellow, has been found by a Boston friend carrying the hod in a Canadian town.

Three years ago he worked as a street car conductor for the same reason that he is now slinging bricks and mortar—a desire to be a Tolstol, donning workman's garb to be close to elemental human life.

Child Sleeps on Track; Is Killed.

Dodge Center, Minn., Sept. 25.—Wandering away from her home near here Margaret Guy, three-year-old daughter of Leif Guy, a farmer, fell asleep on the Northwestern railway track. Engineer Albert Johnson, driving a passenger train at the rate of fifty miles an hour, when he was less than 100 feet away saw something lying on the track. He threw on the brakes, but could not stop the engine before it had crushed the child to death.

Are New Yorkers American?

The most New Yorkish of ladies, who, after an excessively brief, gay winter at home, habitually betook herself to the Riviera, to London, to Paris and to the usual spring, summer and autumn haunts of European elegance, was once asked by an intelligent and curious foreigner some question concerning the habits and customs of her compatriots. She paused, meditated prettily, says Harrison Rhodes in Harper's Magazine, and then made a profoundly significant reply.

"I'm not sure," she said, "that I'm the best person to ask. You see, I'm a New Yorker, and I know so few Americans."

Consented.

"Van Hama, the actor, seems to be growing a trifle deaf. I wonder what caused it?"

"I'm sure I don't know, but he claims it is the result of constant applause."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

STATE RIGHTS
ISSUE WANING

Recent Legislation Has Further Centralized Power.

TENDENCY OF THE TIMES

Passage of Child Labor and Eight Hour Railroad Law Two Steps in Advance in Lessening Functions of Individual States—Formerly These Rights Were Supreme Issue.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Sept. 21.—[Special.]—There is one doctrine gone glimmering which was once a great political issue. State rights was not only a political issue, but in conjunction with slavery was big enough for a great civil war. State rights continued to be an issue long after the war was over, and to an extent will be heard from in connection with legislation by the national government.

But the last vestige of state rights as a political issue has been wiped off the slate by four years of Democratic rule. The Republicans had gone a long way in making it apparent that the United States was becoming a great, strong, centralized power, but it has become more so under the management of the Democratic party in four years.

Tendency of the Times.

It was the tendency of the times. The country was much different in the days when the states were supposed to have a great many reserved rights and when the constitution was drawn. Development and progress have changed conditions that the old things have passed away.

"I have several times said that I believed I was almost the only state rights man in the senate," remarked Senator Gallinger a short time before the adjournment. The New Hampshire senator was contending that states ought to manage their own elections and punish crimes against the ballot and that there was no real necessity for the corrupt practices bill which was being pushed by Senator Owen of Oklahoma.

Two Advanced Steps.

The last session took two very advanced steps in the direction of centralization and breaking down state lines. One was the child labor law and the other the eight hour law. Both of these measures, if they are finally sustained by the supreme court, will do more to wipe out state lines than anything that has been done in recent years.

If the corrupt practices act shall become a law, and it no doubt will be passed next winter, there will be only a short step to the control of elections by the federal government. In fact, the control of primaries and the election of senators by direct vote all point in that direction.

Toward Government Ownership.

In passing a bill to construct and operate a railroad in Alaska and in passing another for the purchase and operation of ships, together with recommendations of cabinet officers that telegraph and telephone lines be taken over by the government, the last congress has gone a long way in the direction of government ownership. There are some people who see government ownership of railroads as an ultimate result of fixing the hours for labor on trains. They rather expect that this fact may influence the courts when the first case is decided.

The Band Wagon Voter.

The Republicans expect to gain on account of the "band wagon voters" since the Maine election. A Democratic senator told me that the "band wagon voter" was the most serious element in this campaign. "There are thousands of such," he said, "whose only desire is to be with the winners."

The hope of the Republicans is that a lot of Progressives who have heretofore been doubtful will now go back to the Republican party.

Geographical Politics.

In a number of states geography cuts a great figure, but that does not seem to be the case in Maine. Both senators elect are from Portland. In other states it is necessary for a senator to be from some other section than that represented by his colleague. In still others no one seems to care whether they come from one end of the state or the other, so long as the men are satisfactory.

Relatives Employed.

Probably only a few votes will be made by showing that sons or sons-in-law or other relatives are employed by men in congress and in the federal departments. That has been going on a long time. Neither party is free from men who look after their relatives in these government positions. At times there has been an outcry, but it does not get many votes. "Nepotism" was made a feature in politics years and years ago. Both parties have used it.

Winning the Senate.

Among other things which the Republicans have set out to do is to win the senate. Their first start was in Maine, where they have gained one. There are other chances—two in Indiana, one each in New York, New Jersey, West Virginia, Ohio, Nebraska, Maryland, Montana, Missouri, Nevada and Arizona. Besides this, they must hold all they now have.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Fire destroyed the entire business district and more than half the industrial section of the town of Phoenix, causing a loss of more than $1,000,000. One person is known to have perished. Eighty-two buildings were destroyed. The volunteer fire department was made helpless by the early destruction of the water pumping station. Looters invaded the ruins and scores of deputies were sworn in with orders to shoot.

A King's Retort.

Hume in his "History of England" after describing the reign of Charles II. says, "It has been remarked of Charles that he never said a foolish thing and never did a wise one—a censure which, though too far carried, seems to have some foundation in his character and deportment."

When the king was informed of this saying he observed that the matter was easily accounted for, for his discourse was his own, but his actions were the ministry's.

ROMANCE AND THE SADDLE.

Clatter of Hoofs and Jingle of Spurs Fire the Imagination.

Romance likes to come on horseback. The jingling spurs and bridle frons chant a happy psalm in his ears, and from the saddle, as from the throne, he looks out over the workaday world.

Romance always has been linked with riding. In the playground, mounted on a gallant rocking chair, youth rides into a land of golden deeds; later he swings in long gallops on the faithful hobby-horse into spicy and fugitive adventure. To the page on a prancing palfrey and to the cavalier in khaki the lure of romance is the same. The rhythm of galloping hoofs thrills always in the imagination, the lady's favor on the lance and the quivering scarlet guidon flutter alike a mysterious and eternal challenge to the spirit of youth. "To horse and away," and all the world's before one.

Stevenson always wanted to write a story about a man galloping up to an inn at night, and the very suggestion brings a tingle to the imagination.

By on the highway, low and loud, By at the gallop goes he.

He heard him in the sleepless midnights of his childhood, and, indeed, the sound of thudding hoofs always makes the heart beat faster. The so-called clattering of a single footer on asphalt, the crackling of twigs and leaves on the quiet autumn trails, the muffled rhythm of a canter on the turf, its resonance on a bridge—all these make music in the ears and bring the very smell of adventure. To him who rides there is always "something lost behind the ranges"—and his heart yearns for it.—Scribner's Magazine.

Scientific tests have shown that in occupations employing the larger muscles women are more rapidly than men, while in work in which smaller muscles are used they are more efficient.

PASSENGER ARE TAKEN OFF

Two Hundred and Fifty Rescued When Vessel Goes Ashore.

Portland, Me., Sept. 25.—The steamer Bay State, bound from Boston to Portland, went ashore on Haly Cont rock, just off the tip of Cape Elizabeth, during a heavy fog.

The 250 passengers were taken off in lifeboats and dories, with the aid of the breeches buoy.

The steamer lies high and dry in a dangerous position.

Four Die at Grade Crossing.

Van Wert, O., Sept. 25.—Four persons were killed and two injured seriously they may not recover when a Pennsylvania railroad passenger train struck a surrey in which they were riding on a grade crossing near here. The dead are: Jacob Hinkley, fifty-six years old, his wife and two sons. The injured are two small sons of the Hinkleys.

New York, Sept. 25.—Seventy thousand dollars has been raised in the United States for the Holland-American Home for Homeless Belgian Orphans. It was announced by Miss Hendrika Van Der Plier, who came to this country from Holland to raise funds for the support of the orphans.

The fall season arrived officially Saturday morning at 3:14 o'clock, central time. The fall weather given Brainerd is of the finest kind imaginable. Saturday was a lovely day. BARE SPOTS IN YOUR LAWN

September is Month for Fixing up the Grass Plots, Says Uncle Sam's Experts

The work of lawn repair, like that of making a new lawn, declare specialists of the United States department of agriculture, is the best performed in early September in the central states.

To improve an old lawn that has run down is often more difficult than to make a new one, but if reasonably good turf exists, it can be bettered materially by reseeding and fertilizing. If the lawn is patchy, the small areas should be scratched with a steel rake, dressed with loam or compost, and the seed sown on this. If large areas of the lawn have a thin covering of turf, it will be advantageous to use a disk seeder. After seeding a second dressing of loam or compost should be applied and the areas rolled lightly.

Careful attention is necessary if a lawn is to be kept in good condition. Most lawns need an occasional application of some good fertilizer, regardless of the kind of soil on which they exist. Thoroughly rotted stable manure is excellent for this purpose. Another good dressing is a mixture of manure well composted with sod and leaf mold and sifted before using.

It is desirable that the material be applied in such condition that there is nothing to rake off. Coarse humus dressing should never be used as the grass is almost invariably killed in small patches beneath the lumps. The humus dressing should be applied in the autumn or winter and again in the spring. Bone meal is one of the best commercial fertilizers for the lawn. When used, it should be applied in the late winter or early spring at a rate of ten to fifteen pounds to the thousand square feet.

Lawns are benefitted by frequent clipping. During the rapid growing season mowing twice a week is not too frequent. It usually makes little difference whether the clipped grass is removed or allowed to remain on the lawn. It is coming to be considered the best practice to remove it, however. It is neither necessary nor advisable to roll lawns during the summer.

Lawns should be well watered during dry periods and should be soaked thoroughly twice or three times a week rather than lightly sprinkled at more frequent intervals. Later afternoon or night is the best time for watering on bright hot days. Weeds are troublesome in all lawns throughout the growing season, but particularly so from the later part of June until frost. Pulling or cutting these plant pests from the turf is the most satisfactory way of ridding a lawn of them.

The control of trailing weeds and undesirable grasses can best be accomplished by raking prior to mowing, the intruders thus being raised so that the mower blades will clip them.

The use of chemical sprays on lawn weeds has not given very satisfactory results. On the whole the weed problem can best be solved by making the conditions as favorable as possible for the turf grasses and maintaining a strict watch at all times to remove troublesome weeds as they appear.

A grass seed mixture rich in red fescue will grow better in shady places probably than other mixtures. By thorough watering and the liberal use of fertilizers and lime, however, the evil effects of shade on the growth of all lawn grasses largely can be overcome in many cases.

Formidable Team from Brainerd is Vanquished by Iron-ton Regulars

HITT PITCHED FOR BRAINERD

Smith and Schmidt Battery Worked for the Range Town—Good Game

In what will probably be the last baseball game of the season for these parts, Iron-ton defeated a Brainerd team last Sunday on the former's diamond by the score of three to one.

A few of the regular Brainerd team were prevailed upon to not take part in last Sunday's tilt. Ray Warren, erstwhile resident of Iron-ton and Crosby, was able to put a fairly formidable team in the field, and as a consequence the Iron-ton-Northern league aggregation were given a run for their money.

The playing was almighty until the first half of the sixth frame when the visitors showed their lone tally across the plate. In this inning Hoelter struck out, Benda followed with a slow roller toward third which he beat out, Smith who handled the ball not even attempting to peg to second. Benda promptly stole second. Talbot fanned. L. Petraborg drove a sharp single to left center, scoring Benda. Noll lifted a high fly to left.

In the next inning Iron-ton proceeded to put the game on ice by rinning up three markers. Wolfe walked. Smith rapped a hard single through Noll, Wolfe going to third. Mosher whiffed. Noll fumbled Russ's roller just long enough to allow Wolfe to score ahead of his peg home. J. Petraborg threw to L. Petraborg in an attempt to nail Smith at third. The latter threw the ball to center field when he tried for Russ at second, the latter taking third, and Smith scoring. Victor fanned. Schmidt singled to center scoring Russ. Paulson was out, Benda to Noll. This ended the scoring for the game.

Both Smith and Hitt pitched steady ball and honors were about even except that the former excelled in the matter of strike-outs. The fact that each team earned but one run affords proof of the high calibre of the twirling. Of the three hits secured from Smith's delivery, all were singles, one being Benda's roller down the third base line. Of the four hits yielded by Hitt, one was a double, one a real single, and two were fluky singles.

Box score and notes of the game will appear in Tuesday's Daily.

BRAINERD'S ODDEST STORIES TODAY

Sunday the Minneapolis Tribune doubled on its sporting page and two pictures of Grover Cleveland Alexander, great pitcher, stared at one. As in Colliers one may love to hear the old story, but is grows tiresome to read it more than once, especially when one pays his good money to get news, not yards of repetition.

Some people seem to think that taking judgment against the city of Brainerd is something awful. Why, the books at the court house show several judgments on record, liquor license refunds, etc.

There is Boston culture and German kultur, and Conductor Coppersmith, of the Minnesota & International railway, with two children sick with diphtheria, is getting experience with another kind of culture. Culture of the germs or whatever it is have been taken and sent the State Board of Health for examination and they pass on it and decide if the evidence is alive and kicking or has post mortem into innocuous denatude.

A five year girl observed "Destruction" at the "Best" and then sagely remarked to her parents, "There's altogether too many people getting killed."

Being married has one consolation. There's always somebody to blame when things go wrong.

John Cochran says that North-east Brainerd solved the dark street problem Sunday night by having a traction engine run up and down the streets burning straw.

T. E. Dahljelm, of Barrows, says Brainerd will have no difficulty in raising a lighting fund. They will scrape through because of the number of barbers cause of he barbers on the list.

"MICHAEL'S"

"FARM BOYS OF OUR COUNTRY" THEME OF SEN. W. A. CAMPBELL

city brother, and many times the city boy did not take into consideration that the clothes worn by the farm boy were paid out of hard-earned toll, I have known in states outside of Minnesota, where these clothes were purchased on time, or rather paid for them.

This old world, my friends, contains thousands of men and women who are dying for the want of a little encouragement. Some one at the right time, when they are discouraged, who will grip them by the right hand with that firmness that you can feel the red blood coursing from the heart right down to the very finger tips, and which says in actions, rather than words, "Cheer up, life is worth living, it's better farther on." Everyone working in unison to cheer the producers of the land, we can accomplish much.

We have noticed many times, that the young girls shun the farm boys, and a father in the city of Minneapolis stated to me not long ago, that he had much difficulty in teaching his five daughters that the farm boy was as good as the city fellow who could curl his mustache, turn the cane upon his finger or tell a funny story.

Young ladies, let me say to you frankly, fear not the hardy hand of toll. I think that it would be much better if the fathers and mothers would apply the Golden Rule with their sons and daughters, for what is true of one, is true of the other.

Do you not recall a few years back, when a young man asked for the hand of a young lady in marriage, it was the rule for father and mother to inquire as to his character. Now the rule has changed, and they ask: "How much money has he got?" and we are led to believe that instead of the Golden Rule we are practicing the "Rule of Gold."

These boys are coming to our great cities all arrived about the same way. In Minneapolis they stepped off at the union depot on lower Nicollet Avenue and I like the rest, came the same way. The boy who remains in that section of the city is a failure. I have seen them come in with their broad shoulders, high foreheads, red-roxy cheeks, and in a few years cheeks were pale, eyes were blood-shot, cigars between their teeth, staggering in and out of the low saloons of that section.

You will pick up a daily paper and notice a small article of about half an inch, stating that some unknown tramp was found dead last night, body at the morgue. It remains there three days, goes to the university, there is cut up the same as the hogs and cattle in Chicago. What is left of the body is put into a pine box and buried by the Mississippi river. Some mother in Minnesota or Iowa, upon the farm, is wondering why John or Bill, as the case may be, does not write. The fact is he will never write again. If, upon the other hand, that lad had been made a companion by his father, he would have remained upon the farm, where he would have been much better off to himself and to the nation. But if he will not stay upon the farm and insists upon coming to the city, let him seek the very best in the city, which at the very best he will find does not equal home and parents.

Some boys make the mistake of feeling that if they have an education they can win life's battles. It is absolutely essential that young men have character also. As they advance in years, memory will fail them. The one thing left then is character, and the young man that fails to build a foundation underneath him will be a failure. It is very hard, my friends, to recommend young men neglected in from the farm who have neglected to build their character.

Senator Campbell then related many cases of where liquor had caused the discharge of men. "Booze" was a stumbling block when a man pursued a position. In mercantile pursuits, in railway employment, in all the walks of life, "Booze" spelled failure.

In trying to have a railway man who drank reinstated, Senator Campbell was met with this argument by the railway employer, who said: "I am very glad to tell you why. We have many lawsuits for injury. Sometimes we are compelled to face large suits because of wrecks on our road. It may be for $5,000, $10,000 or a greater amount, according to the number killed. The jury is drawn. We have the best attorneys money can hire. Some widow steps on the witness stand and testifies that when her husband was killed she saw one of our men under the influence of liquor. We don't say very much at that time, but we know that when that evidence falls upon the ears of those twelve jurymen, we have lost the case. That is more than we propose to pay for booze."

Among the farm boys the nation has given honored places in history are Lincoln, McKinley, Garfield and John A. Johnson. We are all proud of the farm boys who answered Lincoln's call.

Many years ago a Swedish immigrant located in Nicollet county, Minnesota, on a little farm close to St. Peter. He was there when the Indians threatened the whites and was compelled to move into the city. Later on he died, and having little of this world's goods, was buried by the county. They had two sons and one daughter.

The mother was compelled to wash. She had practically nothing of a character. A few years ago we buried this good woman. Her shoulders were bent with toil, her hands were calloused, and her hair was white from many winters. A tribute was paid her, the flag was at half-mast at the capitol, the governor and all the state officials were present to pay tribute to a wash-woman, because of her character. We thought a great deal of her, because she was the mother of a boy that endeared himself to every citizen of this state.

He was the one when asked this question: "John, what was the proudest moment of your life, when you were elected president of the Editors' Association, governor of the state of Minnesota or mentioned for the presidency of the United States?" He replied, "Neither of these three. It was the night when I came home from John's drug store and threw my first week's salary, $2.50, into the lap of my gray-haired mother and said: 'God bless you, mother, you will not have to wash any more, I am going to be the head of the household.'"

And when he died, the flag was at half-mast 30 days, all the officials were present to pay tribute and the industry of Minnesota stood still for five minutes when the body was lowered into the grave, and the sun did not seem to shine just as bright in Minnesota, and to me it appeared as though God Almighty Himself was weeping with us, for great drops of rain came down from heaven like tears, for Minnesota's great farm-boy governor, from St. Peter, was dead.

Let me say to the young men present, that under no flag but the Stars and Stripes would Lincoln, McKinley, Garfield or John A. Johnson be permitted to advance themselves as they did."

Bertram Bracken, who directs the pictures starring Miss Bara, selected scenery true to type in old-fashioned spots in the East, where the buildings and gardens appeared quite like those in rural England, and the interior scenes, taken in the Fox studios in New Jersey, show genuine old

Get the Habit of Drinking Hot Water Before Breakfast

Says we can't look or feel right with the system full of poisons.

Millions of folks bathe internally now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath?" you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles if you could believe these hot water enthusiasts.

There are vast numbers of men and women who, immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is a very excellent health measure. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and the thirty feet of intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the body which if not eliminated every day, become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels, the quick result is poisons and toxins which are then absorbed into the blood causing headache, bilious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, colds, stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood and all sorts of ailments. People who feel good one day and badly the next, but who simply can not get feeling right are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation. Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and freshening, so limestone phosphate and hot water act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is vastly more important to bathe on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

The use of chemical sprays on lawn weeds has not given very satisfactory results. On the whole the weed problem can best be solved by making the conditions as favorable as possible for the turf grasses and maintaining a strict watch at all times to remove troublesome weeds as they appear.

A grass seed mixture rich in red fescue will grow better in shady places probably than other mixtures.
By thorough watering and the liberal use of fertilizers and lime, however, the evil effects of shade on the growth of all lawn grasses largely can be overcome in many cases.

Formidable Team from Brainerd is Vanquished by Ironton

HITT PITCHED FOR BRAINERD

Smith and Schmidt Battery Worked for the Range Town
—Good Game

In what will probably be the last baseball game of the season for these parts, Ironton defeated a Brainerd team last Sunday on the former's diamond by the score of three to one.

A few of the regular Brainerd team were prevailed upon to not take part in last Sunday's tilt. Ray Warren, erstwhile resident of Ironton and Crosby, was able to put a fairly formidable team in the field, and as a consequence the Ironton-Northern league aggregation were given a run for their money.

The playing was afloat until the first half of the sixth frame when the visitors shoved their lone tally across the plate. In this inning Hoedler struck out, Benda followed with a slow roller toward third which he beat out, Smith who handled the ball not even attempting to peg to second.

Benda promptly stole second. Talbot fanned. L. Petraborg drove a sharp single to left center, scoring Benda. Noll lifted a high fly to left.
In the next inning Ironton proceeded to put the game on ice by ringing up three markers. Wolfe walked.
Smith rapped a hard single through Noll, Wolfe going to third. Mosher whiffed. Noll fumbled Russ's roller just long enough to allow Wolfe to score ahead of his peg home. J. Petraborg threw to L. Petraborg in an attempt to nail Smith at third. The latter threw the ball to center field when he tried for Russ at second, the latter taking third, and Smith scoring. Victor fanned. Schmidt singled to center scoring Russ. Paulson was out, Benda to Noll. This ended the scoring for the game.

Both Smith and Hitt pitched steady ball and honors were about even except that the former excelled in the matter of strike-outs. The fact that each team carried but one run affords proof of the high calibre of the twirling. Of the three hits secured from Smith's delivery, all were singles, one being Benda's roller down the third base line. Of the four hits yielded by Hitt, one was a double, one a real single, and two were fluky singles.

Box score and notes of the game will appear in Tuesday's Daily.

BRAINERD'S ODDEST
STORIES TODAY

Sunday the Minneapolis Tribune doubled on its sporting page and two pictures of Grover Cleveland Alexander, great pitcher, stared at one. As in Colliers one may love to hear the old story, but it is grows tiresome to read it more than once, especially when one pays his good money to get news, not yards of repetition.

Some people seem to think that taking judgment against the city of Brainerd is something awful.
Why, the books at the court house show several judgments on record, liquor license refunds, etc.

There is Boston culture and German Kultur, and Conductor Coppersmith, of the Minnesota & International railway, with two children sick with diphtheria, is getting experience with another kind of culture. Culture of the germs or whatever it is have been taken and sent the State Board of Health for examination and they pass on it and decide if the evidence is alive and kicking or has post mortem into innocuous desuetude.

A five year girl observed "Destruction" at the "Best" and then sagely remarked to her parents, "There's altogether too many people getting killed."

Being married has one consolation. There's always somebody to blame when things go wrong.

John Cochran says that Northeast Brainerd solved the dark street problem Sunday night by having a traction engine run up and down the streets burning straw.

T. E. Dahljeim, of Barrows, says Brainerd will have no difficulty in raising a lightning fund.
They will scrape through because of the number of barbers cause of he barbers on the list.

"MICHAEL'S"

"FARM BOYS OF OUR COUNTRY"
THEME OF SEN. W. A. CAMPBELL

city brother, and many times the city boy did not take into consideration that the clothes worn by the farm boy were paid out of hard-earned toll. I have known in states outside of Minnesota, where these clothes were purchased on time, or father paid for them.

This old world, my friends, contains thousands of men and women who are dying for the want of a little encouragement. Some one at the right time, when they are discouraged, who will grip them by the right hand with that firmness that you can feel the red blood coursing from the heart right down to the very finger tips, and which says in actions, rather than words, "Cheer up, life is worth living, it's better farther on." Everyone working in union to cheer the producers of the land, we can accomplish much.

We have noticed many times, that the young girls shun the farm boys, and a father in the city of Minneapolis stated to me not long ago, that he had much difficulty in teaching his five daughters that the farm boy was as good as the city fellow who could curl his mustache, turn the cane upon his finger or tell a funny story.

Young ladies, let me say to you frankly, fear not the hardy hand of till. I think that it would be much better if the fathers and mothers would apply the Golden Rule with their sons and daughters, for what is true of one, is true of the other.

Do you not recall a few years back, when a young lady in marriage, it was the rule for father and mother to inquire as to his character. Now the rule has changed, and they ask:
"How much money has he got?", and we are led to believe that instead of the Golden Rule we are practicing the "Rule of Gold."

These boys are coming to our great cities all arrived about the same way.
In Minneapolis they stepped off at the union depot on lower Nicollet Avenue and I like the rest, came the same way. The boy who remains in that section of the city is a failure.
I have seen them come in with their broad shoulders, high foreheads, red-dye cheeks, and in a few years cheeks were pale, eyes were bloodshot, cigarettes between their teeth, staggering in and out of the low saloons of that section.

You will pick up a daily paper and notice a small article of about half an inch, stating that some unknown tramp was found dead last night, body at the morgue. It remains there three days, goes to the university, there is cut up the same as the hogs and cattle in Chicago. What is left of the body is put into a pine box and buried by the Mississippi river. Some mother in Minnesota or Iowa, upon the farm, is wondering why John or Bill, as the case may be, does not write. The fact is he will never write again. If, upon the other hand, that lad had been made a companion by his father, he would have remained upon the farm, where he would have been much better off to himself and to the nation. But if he will not stay upon the farm and insists upon coming to the city, let him seek the very best in the city, which at the very best he will find does not equal home and parents.

Some boys make the mistake of feeling that if they have an education they can win life's battles. It is absolutely essential that young men have character also. As they advance in years, memory will fail them. The one thing left then is character, and the young man that fails to build a foundation underneath him will be a failure. It is very hard, my friends, to recommend young men coming in from the farm who have neglected to build their character.

Senator Campbell then related many cases of where liquor had caused the discharge of men. "Booze" was a stumbling block when a man desired a position. In mercantile pursuits, in railway employment, in all the walks of life, "Booze" spelled failure.

In trying to have a railway man who drank reinstated, Senator Campbell was met with this argument by the railway employer, who said:

"I am very glad to tell you why.
We have many lawsuits for injury.
Sometimes we are compelled to face large suits because of wrecks on our road. It may be for $5,000, $10,000 or a greater amount, according to the number killed. The jury is drawn.
We have the best attorneys money can hire. Some widow steps on the witness stand and testifies that when her husband was killed she saw one of our men under the influence of liquor. We don't say very much at that time, but we know that when that evidence falls upon the ears of those twelve jurymen, we have lost the case. That is more than we propose to pay for booze!"

Among the farm boys the nation has given honored places in history are Lincoln, McKinley, Garfield and John A. Johnson. We are all proud of the farm boys who answered Lincoln's call.

H. F. MICHAEL CO.

Many years ago a Swedish immigrant located in Nicollet county, Minnesota, on a little farm close to St. Peter. He was there when the Indians threatened the whites and was compelled to move into the city.
Later on he died, and having little of this world's goods, was buried by the county. They had two sons and one daughter.

The mother was compelled to wash.
She had practically nothing of a character. A few years later she buried this good woman. Her shoulders were bent with toil, her hands were calloused, and her hair was white from many winters. A tribute was paid her, the flag was at half-mast at the capitol, the governor and all the state officials were present to pay tribute to a wash-woman, because of her character. We thought a great deal of her, because she was the mother of a boy that endeared himself to every citizen of this state.

He was the one when asked this question: "John, what was the proudest moment of your life, when you were elected president of the Editors' Association, governor of the state of Minnesota or mentioned for the presidency of the United States?" He replied, "Neither of these three.
It was the night when I came home from Jones' drug store and threw my first week's salary, $2.50, into the lap of my gray-haired mother and said: 'God bless you, mother, you will not have to wash any more, I am going to be the head of the household.'"

And when he died, the flag was at half-mast 35 days, all the officials were present to pay tribute and the industry of Minnesota stood still for five minutes when the body was lowered into the grave, and the sun did not seem to shine just as bright in Minnesota, and to me it appeared as though God Almighty Himself was weeping with us, for great drops of rain came down from heaven like tears, for Minnesota's great farm-boy governor, from St. Peter, was dead.

Let me say to the young men present, that under no flag but the Stars and Stripes would Lincoln, McKinley, Garfield or John A. Johnson be permitted to advance themselves as they did."

Theda Bara, in a moving picture revival of the famous stage, long-run favorite, "East Lynne," is offered to the public by William Fox in a photodrama even exceeding that star's and that noted producer's previous triumphs in master picture making.
The old drama of English country life is enacted in all truthness to its powerful form by an all-star cast in support of Miss Bara, including those picture favorites, Claire Whitney, Stanhope Wheatcraft, W. H. Tooker, the charming "movie villain," Stuart Holmes, and other actors and actresses of sound reputations on stage and screen.

In writing the scenario from the novel "East Lynne" and the play
"East Lynne," Miss Mary Murillo retains in its picture from all the dramatic and literary force, but increases the scope of the story along lines only possible in moving pictures.
Detram Bracken, who directs the pictures starring Miss Bara, selected scenery true to type in old-fashioned spots in the East, where the buildings and gardens appeared quite like those in rural England, and the interior scenes, taken in the Fox studios in New Jersey, show genuine old

Get the Habit of Drinking Hot Water
Before Breakfast

Says we can't look or feel right with the system full of poisons.

Millions of folks bathe internally now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath?" you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles if you could believe these hot water enthusiasts.

There are vast numbers of men and women who, immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is a very excellent health measure. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and the thirty feet of intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the body which if not eliminated every day, become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels, the quick result is poisons and toxics which are then absorbed into the blood causing headache, bilious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, colds, stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood and all sorts of ailments.

People who feel good one day and badly the next, but who simply can not get feeling right are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and freshening, so limestone phosphate and hot water act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is vastly more important to bathe on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

Darnell Asks for Pardon.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—James M. Darnell, the "marrying parson," sentenced to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., May 20, 1915, after a sensational trial, has applied for a pardon. This was admitted by Richard J. Cooney, defender of the former minister, who was convicted of violating the Mann act.

Fishermen Go on Strike.

Amerdeen, Wash., Sept. 25.—Between 500 and 700 fishermen of Grey's Harbor, representing 350 boats, went on strike here as the result of the refusal of packers to meet their demands for higher prices for Salmon. The strikers say their demands are based on the increased prices of supplies.

Light as Chaff

He Got His Interview.

The quick wit of a traveling salesman was severely tested one day. He sent in his card to the manager of a large concern whose inner office was separated from the waiting room by a glass partition. When the boy handed the card to the manager the salesman saw him impatiently tear the card in two and throw it in his wastebasket. When the youngster returned with the message that his chief would not see him the salesman told the boy to go back and get his card. The boy returned with a nickel and the message that the card was torn up. Giving him another card, the man said coolly:

"Go back and tell your boss that I sell two cards for 5 cents."

He got his interview and sold his goods.—Country Gentleman.

Promptly Answered.

The class in history had been called and the teacher asked her young pupils how many wars England had fought with Spain.

"Six," one little miss promptly replied.

"Six," repeated the teacher. "Enumerate them, please."

"One, two, three, four, five, six," said the little girl with cheerful confidence.

The Perfect Woman.

"Who ever saw a perfect man?" asked an evangelist at a revival meeting. "There is no such thing. Every man has his faults, plenty of them."

"Do you mean to say, madam," the evangelist asked, "that you have seen a perfect woman?"

"Well, I can't just say that I have seen her," the woman replied, "but I have heard a great deal about her—my husband's first wife."

Didn't Have To.

"Well, thank heaven," he said, approaching a sad looking man who sat back in a corner, "that's over with."

"What is?"

"I've danced with the hostess. I have you gone through with it yet?"

"No; I don't need to. I'm the host."

Waited Too Long.

Mother (to battered son)—Willie, how often have I told you to stop before fighting and count up to a hundred?

Battered Son—That's what I did, but Charlie Jones' mother only told him to count ten.

Product of Sand Lots.

Henry (Heinie) Zimmerman, who went to New York in exchange for Jack Doyle and two other players, is a product of the sand lots of Bronx borough, New York city, and is thirty years old. He attracted attention as a semi-pro along 1902 and 1903. Zimmerman's first real professional engagement was with the Wilkesbarre club of the State league. He remained in the minors only two seasons. Chicago purchased his release in the fall of 1907 for $1250. As a schoolboy he used to pitch and as a semi-pro played second base. Zimmerman was the champion batter in 1912 with an average of .372.

An Ambidextrous Pitcher.

Tony Mullane, who was one of the best pitchers of his day, in the eighties, could pitch with either arm, writes Sam Crane in the New York Evening Journal, and frequently when his team was so far ahead that there was no danger of losing he would switch from his natural right handed delivery to his left, but he was unable to get the speed and effectiveness with his left that he could with his right. In fact, he was easy to hit when pitching the southpaw way. Mullane is now a policeman in Chicago.

Started as Third Baseman.

Jack Doyle, who went to the Chicago Cubs in trade, is a native of Caseyville, Ill., and is thirty years old. He first attracted the attention of the big league scouts in 1907 as third baseman of the Springfield (O.) club.

The same year McGraw made his bid and finally lured Doyle, but not until the New York club had paid $4,500 for his release. Doyle led the National in batting last year with an average of .320.

Brushing and Massage Aid Hair and Scalp

By DR. WOODS HUTCHINSON.

For the perfect ventilation of the scalp the best and most perfect instrument ever invented is the hairbrush in the proportion of one part of bristles to three of "elbow grease." This scalp saving combination works partly by lifting and fluffing up the hair from the scalp so as to allow free circulation of air, partly by stimulating the circulation of the scalp by gently pulling at the roots of the hair.

Use no brush stiffer or harder than you can comfortably use on the back of your hand for this sort of "currying," which should form nine-tenths of your brushing, although of course for simply parting or smoothing and disentangling hair or for a brief "glow" a stiffer brush may also be used. As a general thing wire brushes do more harm than good to the scalp.

Thorough and vigorous massage of the scalp for ten or fifteen minutes both night and morning with those best of rollers or vibrators ever yet invented, the tips of the fingers, is of great value in keeping the scalp, and through it the hair, in healthy condition.

The one condition which threatens progressive and advancing loss of hair is thinning of the scalp and tightening of it down to the skull, with absorption of the fatty cushion layer underneath it. And the best known method of either preventing or checking this wasting away and shrinking down change is vigorous massage of the scalp, pushing it backward and forward and from side to side over the smooth skull surface beneath.

For Aching Feet

Tired and aching feet can be relieved by a borax bath. Add two or three tablespoonfuls of borax to a basin of warm water and soak the feet for ten or fifteen minutes each night before retiring. Try this for a week or so, and you will be surprised at the results.

The uses of borax in the household are legion, and once in the home borax becomes a hygienic necessity. What cannot be accomplished in a cleansing way with the aid of borax is hardly worth trying.

EXPLAINING THE MAINE ELECTION

A Popular Pastime Among Politicians Just Now.

A Shrewd Democratic Senator Makes Prediction That He Will Figure in the Eleventh Hour Before Election. Senator Reed's Tent Campaign—Mobilization Making Texas Prosperous.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Sept. 26.—[Special.]—There are still a number of explanations of the Maine election to be heard. In fact, if one reads all the explanations and then tries to reach a conclusion he may wind up with the opinion that there wasn't anything whatever that influenced the Maine voters. They simply went and voted, and it happened that certain men were elected as a result, but as to the political significance, why, there was no politics in it, see?

A rather weird tale that came floating into Washington was to the effect that sectionalism did it; prejudice against the south, all on account of the beheading of Hughes while he was in Tennessee. Those people of Maine just wouldn't stand for that. It was not the return of the bill mouse to the Republican party nor the tariff nor the eight hour law, but simply a resentment against the treatment of Hughes in a southern state.

That is about the last explanation that has been made of the Maine election.

Villa and American Politics.

Just before leaving Washington one of the shrewd Democratic senators told me that Villa would become active in time to exert an influence on politics in this country. "Just before election watch out for Villa and what he does. Perhaps a few Americans will be killed and there will be an attack on our troops. All will be for political effect."

But he did not disclose for whose benefit the bandit's operations would be. He did not say on which side Villa would enlist.

Boosting Carranza.

There is every evidence of a determination to boost Carranza in this country and of an effort to make him more popular with the people and secure public opinion in his favor. Carranza is to be the savior of Mexico—the only man who can become president and hold the job.

"To Your Tents, O Israel!"

Down in Missouri Senator Reed is running a tented campaign. He has secured tents for big meetings and has at least half a dozen of them in operation with speakers who are boosting the Democratic party and particularly Jim Reed. The Chautauqua tents are just the thing for this sort of campaigning.

Texas War Prosperous.

These are prosperous days for the Lone Star State. The large body of troops on the Mexican border necessitating the expenditure of $15,000,000 or $20,000,000 a month keeps a lot of money in circulation. There is not the least doubt about the popularity of the administration in Texas. The people would be for any administration that contributed to the prosperity of a state in that way. A great many supplies for the troops are naturally bought as near to the border as possible, while the men themselves are spending their money where they are earning it.

A Fly in the Ointment.

Of course Fred Hale was glad to be elected senator in Maine, but if he reads all the comments on that election there must be a considerable amount of bitter with the sweet. From one end of the country to the other the explanations have contained the apology that "Hale was personally unpopular." No one has told why he belonged to the Hale family. That is somewhat incredible in view of the fact that the father of Fred Hale was a senator for thirty years and for a long time before that a member of the house.

Wiley and Moore.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley and Professor Willis L. Moore are out on the hustings urging the election of Hughes. Four years ago these men were quite enthusiastic for Wilson. At least Wiley was on the stump for the New Jersey man and bitterly assailing both Taft and Roosevelt. He had reasons for a grievance against both of them. Moore was an active candidate for secretary of agriculture in Wilson's cabinet and was soon after fired as chief of the weather bureau.

He Is Too Late.

Now comes a man from the south and talks about the blighting effect of prohibition in that section of the country. But he is too late. There will be no reaction in the prohibition movement. States which have tried prohibition are not going back to the old system. It may be true that the restriction of liquor selling brings about quiet in cities, and it is possible that business is affected, but prohibition grows stronger instead of weaker in the southern states.

ARRESTED FOR MURDER OF WIFE

CRIME COMMITTED JULY 15

Attorney Had Testified, Woman Was Slain When He Was Called Away by Decoy Message—Laughs When Taken Into Custody.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 25.—Oscar D. McDaniel, prosecuting attorney, was arrested here on a state warrant charging him with the murder of his wife, Harriet Moss McDaniel, who was found dying in her bedroom the night of July 15.

McDaniel laughed when arrested and on the way to police headquarters obtained permission to buy some cigars.

Mrs. McDaniel was found dying by her husband, who told during the coroner's inquest of a mystifying and sensational series of circumstances. The murder of Mrs. McDaniel was coupled with an alleged attempt to kill the prosecutor also.

In public statement Mr. McDaniel charged that law violators against whom he had been active were responsible for the crime.

Decoyed From Home.

Mr. McDaniel testified at the inquest that he received a decoy telephone message on the night of the murder which called him from his home. He returned after finding no one who knew of the message.

As he alighted from his car in front of his garage, several shots were fired at him, he said.

Crouching behind the car he returned the fire with a pistol which he was carrying because of threats that had been made against his life. It was unaimed and hurried into the house when the firing ceased.

Upstairs in bed he discovered his wife dying from wounds inflicted by some blunt instrument.

Nearly their children slept undisturbed. Mrs. McDaniel never recovered consciousness sufficient to make a statement.

The prosecutor took an active personal interest in the investigation of the murder and the public hearings held by the coroner. Substantial rewards were offered for the arrest of the murderer. Several persons were detained in connection with the case, but all later were released.

A new feature was injected by a number of anonymous letters, crudely written, which purported to confess the crime, alleging as a motive a desire for revenge against the prosecutor.

TWO MORE ARRESTED ON BLACKMAIL CHARGE

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Using the Mann act as a threat, two more members of the alleged international blackmail syndicate, who were arrested here as said to have obtained $15,000 from a victim.

The men arrested were Homer T. French, alias Jack French, and Jimmie Christian.

The warrants charge that French and Irwin fleeced one A. R. Wesley out of $12,500 after representing themselves to be government officers in New York, where they are said to have surprised Wesley and a woman known as Alice Williams in a hotel.

Then, it is charged, Wesley and the woman were transported to Chicago and held prisoner in a hotel from May 9, 1916, until June 13 of the same year. During this time, it is charged, they obtained $2,500 more from their victims.

BROTHER HALTS DEDICATION

Edward Meisenberg Charges Society Neglected Chicagoan's Family.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—A brother of Samuel Meisenberg, the Chicago marine who lost his life at Vera Cruz, plunged through a crowd gathered about the monument erected in Waldheim cemetery to the marine's memory and prevented its dedication.

The brother, Edward Meisenberg, started the 500 persons gathered for the dedication by charging that the society which erected the monument had failed to give the marine's poverty-stricken parents the money promised them.

The dedication was called off. Officers of the society Meisenberg accused said no promise of money to the marine's parents had been made.

Cracksmen Get $15,000 in Gems.

Baltimore, Sept. 25.—Defying detection by the hourly visits of a night watchman, cracksmen chiseled their way into the inner recess of a 3,000-pound safe in the jewelry store of Steman & Norwig and escaped with gems valued approximately at $15,000. The burglars cut through the flooring and ceiling of the second floor and used a rope to lower themselves directly in front of the safe.

The national guard

For defense against invasion, our real national guard is the millions of stalwart, young Americans in all walks of life, who must respond to their country's call for training and service in the ranks of our army and navy. For defense against invasion of the elements CERTAIN-TEED Roofing is the real "national guard".

Certain-teed Roofing

protects our buildings from the violence of storms; successfully resists the attacks of rain, hail, sleet and snow; is unaffected by the sharp assaults of frost, and the withering fire of mid-summer sun. It even withstands the ravages of time, for CERTAIN-TEED Roofing is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to ply (1, 2 or 3). Experience proves that it will out-last the period of guarantee.

The long life of CERTAIN-TEED is due to the fact that it does not dry out, as ordinary roofing does. This is because it is made of the best quality roofing felt, thoroughly saturated with a blend of soft asphalts—the formula of the General's Board of Expert Chemists. This soft saturation is then covered with a coating of a harder blend of asphalts, which prevents the drying-out process, and keeps CERTAIN-TEED impervious to the elements for years after the harder, drier kinds of roofing have dried out and gone.

CERTAIN-TEED is made in rolls; also in slate-surfaced shingles. There is a type of CERTAIN-TEED Roofing for every kind of building, with flat or pitched roofs, from the largest sky-scraper to the smallest residence or out-building.

CERTAIN-TEED is sold by responsible dealers all over the world, at reasonable prices. Investigate it before you decide on any type of roof.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—James M. Darnell, the "merry parson," sentenced to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., May 29, 1915, after a sensational trial, has applied for a pardon. Amerdeen, Wash., Sept. 25.—Between 500 and 700 fishermen of Grey's Harbor, representing 250 boats, went on strike here as the result of the refusal of packers to meet their demands for higher prices for salmon. The strikers say their demands are based on the increased prices of supplies.

Light as Chaff

He Got His Interview. The quick wit of a traveling salesman was severely tested one day. He sent in his card to the manager of a large concern whose inner office was separated from the waiting room by a glass partition. When the boy handed the card to the manager the salesman saw him impatiently tear the card in two and throw it in his wastebasket.

When the younger returned with the message that his chief would not see him the salesman told the boy to go back and get his card.

The boy returned with a nickel and the message that the card was torn up. Giving him another card, the man said coolly:

"Go back and tell your boss that I sell two cards for 5 cents."

He got his interview and sold his goods.—Country Gentleman.

Promptly Answered.

The class in history had been called and the teacher asked her young pupils how many wars England had fought with Spain.

"Six," one little miss promptly replied.

"Six," repeated the teacher. "Enumerate them, please."

"One, two, three, four, five, six," said the little girl with cheerful confidence.

The Perfect Woman.

"Who ever saw a perfect man?" asked an evangelist at a revival meeting. "There is no such thing. Every man has his faults, plenty of them."

Of course no one had ever seen a perfect man, and consequently the state ment of the revivalist was received with silence. The revivalist continued:

At this juncture a tall, thin woman arose.

"Do you mean to say, madam," the evangelist asked, "that you have seen a perfect woman?"

Didn't Have To.

"Well, thank heaven," he said, approaching a sad looking man who sat back in a corner, "that's over with."

"What is?"

"I've danced with the hostess. Have you gone through with it yet?"

"No! I don't need to. I'm the host."

Product of Sand Lots.

Henry (Hale) Zimmerman, who went to New York in exchange for Jack Doyle and two other players, is a product of the sand lots of Bronx borough, New York city, and is thirty years old. He attracted attention as a semi-pro along 1902 and 1903. Zimmerman's first real professional engagement was with the Wilkesbarre club of the State league. He remained in the minors only two seasons. Chicago purchased his release in the fall of 1907 for $1,250. As a schoolboy he used to pitch and as a semi-pro played second base. Zimmerman was the champion batter in 1912 with an average of .372.

An Ambidextrous Pitcher.

Started as Third Baseman.

Jack Doyle, who went to the Chicago Cubs in trade, is a native of Caseyville, Ill., and is thirty years old. He first attracted the attention of the big league scouts in 1907 as third baseman of the Springfield (O.) club.

The same year McGraw made his bid and finally landed Doyle, but not until the New York club had paid $4,500 for his release. Doyle led the National in batting last year with an average of .320.

Brushing and Massage Aid Hair and Scalp

By DR. WOODS HUTCHINSON.

For the perfect ventilation of the scalp the best and most perfect instrument ever invented is the hairbrush in the proportion of one part of bristles to three of "elbow grease." This scalp saving combination works partly by lifting and fluffing up the hair from the scalp so as to allow free circulation of air, partly by stimulating the circulation of the scalp by gently pulling at the roots of the hair.

Use no brush stiffer or harder than you can comfortably use on the back of your hand for this sort of "vibrating," which should form nine-tenths of your brushing, although of course for simply parting or smoothing and disentangling hair or for a brief "glow" a stiffer brush may also be used. As a general thing wire brushes do more harm than good to the scalp.

Thorough and vigorous massage of the scalp for ten or fifteen minutes both night and morning with these best of rollers or vibrators ever yet invented, the tips of the fingers, is of great value in keeping the scalp, and through it the hair, in healthy condition.

The one condition which threatens progressive and advancing loss of hair is thinning of the scalp and tightening of it down to the skull, with absorption of the fatty cushion layer underneath it. And the best known method of either preventing or checking this wasting away and shrinking down change is vigorous massage of the scalp, pushing it backward and forward and from side to side over the smooth skull surface beneath.

For Aching Feet

Tired and aching feet can be relieved by a borax bath. Add two or three tablespoonfuls of borax to a basin of warm water and soak the feet for ten or fifteen minutes each night before retiring. Try this for a week or so, and you will be surprised at the results.

The uses of borax in the household are legion, and once in the home borax becomes a hygienic necessity. What cannot be accomplished in a cleansing way with the aid of borax is hardly worth trying.

EXPLAINING THE MAINE ELECTION

A Popular Pastime Among Politicians Just Now.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Sept. 26.—[Special.]—There are still a number of explanations of the Maine election to be heard. In fact, if one reads all the explanations and then tries to reach a conclusion he may wind up with the opinion that there wasn't anything whatever that influenced the Maine voters. They simply went and voted, and it happened that certain men were elected as a result, but as to the political significance, why, there was no politics in it, see?

A rather weird tale that came floating into Washington was to the effect that sectionalism did it; prejudice against the south, all on account of the heckling of Hughes while he was in Tennessee. Those people of Maine just wouldn't stand for that. It was not the return of the bull moose to the Republican party nor the tariff nor the eight hour law, but simply a resentment against the treatment of Hughes in a southern state.

That is about the last explanation that has been made of the Maine election.

Villa and American Politics.

Just before leaving Washington one of the shrewd Democratic senators told me that Villa would become active in time to exert an influence on politics in this country. "Just before election watch out for Villa and what he does. Perhaps a few Americans will be killed and there will be an attack on our troops. All will be for political effect."

But he did not disclose for whose benefit the bandit's operations would be. He did not say on which side Villa would enlist.

Boosting Carranza.

There is every evidence of a determination to boost Carranza in this country and of an effort to make him more popular with the people and secure public opinion in his favor. Carranza is to be the savior of Mexico—the only man who can become president and hold the job.

Just what is behind the movement is hard to say, but the supposition is that Carranza's agents in this country have concluded that the time is ripe for renewed activities along these lines.

"To Your Tents, O Israel!"

Down in Missouri Senator Reed is running a tented campaign. He has secured tents for big meetings and has at least half a dozen of them in operation with speakers who are boosting the Democratic party and particularly Jim Reed. The Chautauqua tents are just the thing for this sort of campaigning.

Texas War Prosperous.

These are prosperous days for the Lone Star State. The large body of troops on the Mexican border necessitating the expenditure of $15,000,000 or $20,000,000 a month keeps a lot of money in circulation.
